

Privacy Policy – iVentilate

Last updated: [e.g. November 7, 2025]

1. Overview

The iVentilate application is published by Dr. Hadrien Roze and Rémi Dubois, based in France.

You can contact us at contact@sim-va.com.

This privacy policy explains how we handle user information within the iVentilate app, available on Google Play and the App Store.

2. Data Collection

The application does not collect, store, or share any personal data.

No user accounts, login systems, analytics, or activity tracking mechanisms are implemented.

The only information related to users is that provided to Google Play or the App Store during the download process, which remains subject to the privacy policies of those platforms.

3. Use of Third-Party Services

The application does not use any third-party services, such as Google Analytics, Firebase, or any other analytics, advertising, or tracking tools.

4. Content and Book Updates

The main content of the application is a book about artificial ventilation, stored locally within the app.

Updated versions of the book may occasionally be downloaded from a French-hosted website under our control.

No personal data is transmitted or collected during these updates.

5. Security and Confidentiality

Even though no personal information is collected, we take data security and confidentiality seriously.

All downloadable content and updates are hosted on secure servers located in France.

6. User Rights

In accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), you have rights of access, rectification, deletion, and objection regarding your personal data.

However, since iVentilate does not collect any personal information, these rights do not apply to the use of the app.

For any privacy-related questions, please contact us at:

 contact@sim-va.com

7. Changes to This Privacy Policy

We may update this privacy policy to reflect technical, legal, or regulatory changes.

Any significant modifications will be communicated via an app update or through the app store page.
